Differentiation/Modification

Learners work with their study buddies. Particularly hard/unfamiliar words are translated into Chinese on the slides. Visuals and sound cues are used. Learners are able to walk about the class when completing their worksheets to help learners who learn kinesthetically. Weaker learners are given more assistance in helping them complete the worksheets, for example I may ask some learners to not complete all but only some of the answers and can copy the rest when the answers are shown.
