Introduction

-Fu-Shan Tranan Atayal Aboriginal Tribes

Here in Fu-Shan you can learn about the hunter's culture and the wisdom of nature and the Atayal's ancestors. Inside the quiet tribe you can sense the ease floating through the air that is different from the busy cities. The wall paintings and the sculptures present the history of the Atayal Tribe to the visitors.

Coming to the entrance of the Klumut Trail, before entering the mountains there is a special ritual, which is to pray to the ancestors of the Atayal for the safety of the hikers.

The Nanshih Creek on the side of the trail is very clear, as the sunlight blinks from the scale of the Shoveljaw carps swimming in the creek. As the hunter leads the newcomers into the mountains, along their path the hunter puts down traps according to the size and animal behaviors of different animals.

Feel the moment of sincere emotions between people by learning about the tribe's culture and history. If you don't want to miss the chance of being surrounded by mountains and the passion of the Atayal people, join us with this amazing trip to Fu-Shan.
